MISCELLANEOUS READING. LETTER OF A DYING WIFE TO HER

HUSBAND. The following touching fragment of a letter from a dying wife to her husband, was for the month of March ever offered. The found by him some months after her death, be tween the leaves of a religious volume, which she was very fond of perusing. The letter was written long before her busband was aware that the grasp of fatal disease had fastened upon the lovely form of his wife. who died at the early age of nineteen.

"When this shall reach your eye, dear

George, some day when you are turning over the relies of the past, I shall have passed away forever, and the cold white stone will be keeping its lonely watch over the lips you have so often pressed, and the sod will be The country is flooded with swindling growing green that shall hide forever from your sight the dust of one who has often nestled close to your warm heart. For many long and sleepless nights, when all besides my thoughts were at rest, I have wrestled with the consciousness of approaching death, until at last it has formed itself upon my mind; and although to you, to others, it might now seem but the nervous imagining of a girl, yet, dear George, it is so! Many weary hours have I passed in the endeavor to reconcile myself to leave you, whom I love so well, and this bright world of sunshine and beauty; and hard indeed it is to struggle on silently and alone with the sure conviction that I am 2,000 about to leave all forever and go down into 1,500 the dark vailey! "But I know in whom I have believed," and leaning on his arm, "I fear no evil." Do not blame me for keeping even all this from you. How could I subject you, of all others, to such sorrow as I feel at parting, when time will soon make it apparent to you? I could have wished to live if only to be at your side when your time shall come, and pillowing your head upon my breast, wipe the death damps from your brow and usher your departing spirit into the Maker's presence, embalmed in woman's holiest prayer. But it is not to be-and I submit. Yours is the privilege of watching, through long and dreary nights, for the spirit's final flight, and of transferring my sinking head from your breast to my Saviour's bosom! And you shall share my last thought, and the last faint pressure of the hand, and the last feeble kiss shall be yours; and even when flesh and heart shall have failed me, my eyes shall rest on yours until glazed by death; and our spirits shall hold NO DEDUCTION ON PRIZES. PRIZES PAYABLE IN FULL. one last communion until gently fading from 1 prize of $35,000 4 Apr'x to $400 my view—the last of earth—you shall mingle 250 with the first bright glimpses of the unfa-200 ding glories of the better world, where partings are unknown. Well do I know the spot, my dear George, where you will lay me; often we stood by the place, and as we watched the mellow sunset as it glanced in quivering flashes through the leaves and burnished the 80 grassy mounds around us with the stripes of burnished gold, each perhaps has thought 60 that some day one of us would come alone, and which ever it might be, your name would be on the stone. But we loved the spot, and I know you will love it none the less when you see the same quiet sun-light linger and play among the grass that grows over your Mary's grave. I know you will go there, and my spirit will be with you then, and whis-
